SONG, STORY, ANECDOTE,
TRAVEL AND ARTICLES.

An Interesting Story of an Every-Day Hero—Captain of a Wrecking Tug.

The Barn in the Rain.
Gray barn and draggled meadow.
Buried green of grass and leaves.
The sky an awful shadow.
For on her gray face weaves

The rain and silver threads.
That fleck the muddy puddle.
That rattle in the sheds Where the cold cattle huddle!

Then oh, the haymow soft And deep and dark and warm On sweet hay piled aloft—While overhead the storm

Sweeps the wet shingles, drips At eaves, makes music wild—We listen: the soul slips Years back and is a child.

Somehow as at the start We turn from life's hot foam.
Get in the world's warm heart.
Yes, make Earth's heart our home!

And lie there warm, secure, Yea, as a child of five, Heart cleansed, serene and pure And glad to be alive.

—James O'Connell in "Woman's Home Companion" for August.

An American Hero.

"One morning in January, when the ice in the Hudson River ran unusually heavy," says F. Hopkinson Smith, in the August "Everybody's," in telling how Capt. Thomas Scott stopped a leak in a ferry boat with his own body.
A Hoboken ferry boat slowly crunched her way through the floating floes, until the thickness of the pack choked her paddles in mid-river. It was an early morning trip, and the decks were crowded with laboring men and the driveways choked with teams; the women and children standing inside the cabins were a solid mass up to the swinging doors. While she was gaining strength for a further effort an ocean tug sheaved to avoid her, reared a point, and crashed into her side, cutting her below the water-line in a great V-shaped gash. A moment more and the disabled boat careened from the shock and fell over on her beam, helpless, for the V-shaped gash the water poured a torrent. It seemed but a question of minutes before she would plunge headlong below the ice.

"Within two hundred yards of both boats, and free of the heaviest ice, steamed the wrecking tug Reliance of the Off-shore Wrecking Company, and on her deck forward stood Capt.
Scott. When the ocean tug reversed her engines after the collision, and backed clear of the shattered wheel-house of the ferry boat, he sprang forward, stooped down, ran his eye along the water-line, noted in a flash every shattered plank, climbed into the pilot house of his own boat, and before the astonished pilot could catch his breath, pushed the nose of the Reliance along the rail of the ferry boat and dropped upon the latter's deck like a cat.

"With a threat to throw overboard any man who stirred, he dropped into the engine room, met the engineer half way up the ladder, compelled him to return, dragged the mattresses from the crew's bunks, stripped off blankets, snatched up clothes, overalls, cotton waste, and rags of carpet, cramming them into the space rent left by the tug's cutwater.

"It was useless. Little by little the water gained, bursting out first below, then on one side, only to be calked out again, and only to rush in once more.
"Captain Scott stood a moment as if undecided, ran his eye searching-ly over the engine room, saw that for his needs it was empty, then deliberately tore down the top wall of calking he had so carefully built up, and before the engineer could protest, forced his own body into the gap, with his arm outside, level with the drifting ice.

"An hour later, the disabled ferry boat, with every soul on board, was towed into the Hoboken slip.
"When they lifted the captain from the wreck, he was unconscious and barely alive. The water had frozen his blood, and the floating ice had torn the flesh from the protruding arm from shoulder to wrist. When the color began to creep back to his cheeks he opened his eyes and said to the doctor who was winding the bandages:
"Wuz any of them babies hurt?"

"A month passed before he regained his strength, and another week before the arm had healed so that he could get his coat on. Then he went back to the Reliance."

Like a Potato.

Sunday afternoon I heard Mary and Bert discussing the morning's Sunday School lesson.

Bert, who has all faith in his sister's superior knowledge, eagerly inquired, "Mary, what does God look like?"

"I was surprised at Mary's prompt and solemn reply: 'Bert, God looks like a potato.'"

Upon asking the child where she had received such an impression, she replied: "Why, on said God has eyes on all sides, and a potato is the only thing I know of that has eyes on all sides."—The August "Delinquent."

"Christian Science Cures."

Dr. Richard Cabot, in an article in the August "McClure's," analyzes one hundred "Christian Science Cures." He does not discuss them from the point of view of logic or consistency, but by a study of the written testimonials and of his own experience, gained in the attempt to verify the claims of those who pronounced themselves cured. Summing up he says:
"My conclusions are, first, that most Christian Science cures are probably genuine; but, second, that they are not the cures of organic diseases.

In his own personal researches into "Christian Science cures," I have never found one in which there was no good evidence that cancer, consumption, or any other organic disease had been arrested or banished.
The diagnosis was usually either made by the patient himself or was an interpretation at second or third hand of what a doctor was supposed to have said.

"As I have followed up the reported cures of cancer and other malignant tumors, I have found either that they were not tumors at all, or that they were assumed to be malignant without any microscopic examination. In other words, the diagnosis was never based upon any proper evidence."

Recipe for a Political Campaign.

Take the roots of several ripe questions and cover them well with equal parts of fudge and dead beats. Add one modicum of sense and a number of great scoops of nonsense. Some of the more fastidious often add a pinch of progress, but this is not absolutely necessary. Stir in some carefully selected verbiage strained through a rhetorical colander. Beat vigorously until the enthusiasm rises to the top, and then drop in a handful of candydates.

It is then ready for the griddle, which is best made in the shape of a platform constructed from well-worn banks.

Now for the whole thing. Roll and bake for several months. If it should not rise well, add newspapers.
When it is in white heat, garnish liberally with long green. Now let the sauce of oil and vinegar to cool. Preserve in alcohol for future use.

A political campaign should be served in gum shoes, and should also be taken with a grain of salt.—From August "Success" Magazine.

New Stage Line Across the Desert.

After a moment's pause at a small cluster of three or four frame buildings, announced by the brakeman as Torrance, the Golden State Limited has resumed its flight across the plain and is fast dwindling to a speck on the western horizon. The meanness of habitation seems to emphasize the castness and loneliness of the land.
It is a scene suggestive of the proximity of some favored old stage coach, which will presently rattle up to the platform of the little box-like "depot," to transport the waiting passengers and mail farther on their journey into the wilderness. Suddenly, from around the corner of the "hotel," the stage does appear, but its advent is unaccompanied with the traditional crackling of the whip at the lead horses. Instead, there are no horses to be cracked at, although the succession of short explosive sounds which emanate from the vehicle's glistening front tell of stored up power equivalent to that of many horses. With a lurching "Goodmornin'" the stalwart driver jumps from the dusty and weatherbeaten machine; mail sacks and luggage are quickly secured on top of the hood and in any other space left available by the passengers, and with a honk, and a splutter of the engine, the mail coach begins its trip across the plain to the distant town of Roswell.

Winding for a few miles through a scrubby growth of cedars, the road emerges into the open. A flock of several thousand sheep look with startled eyes as we rush by, while the Mexican herder waves his hand. He is evidently becoming accustomed to the glittering carriage which charges by with such tumultuous speed in its invasion of his lonely territory. Farther on, there is a brief stop at a long, low ranch house of stone to leave a mail bag and take on a dark visaged, tall-shouldered passenger, and we are away again. From "The Gasoline Public School," by Walter E. Dock, in the Edition Number of "Serlimer's."

A Japanese Home.

What a pleasant day by being taken to see the houses and gardens of Mr. Iwasaki, a magnate of Tokio, our host having arranged the visit beforehand. After a long drive in a landau, which was driven by a Japanese coachman garbed in dark-blue kimono and mushroom hat, with a bello, or groom, dressed in the same way, on the box, we came to the two houses. One was European, full of fine things, while the other, in which the owner lived, was Japanese. Having removed our shoes, we were taken over it. I wish I could describe its fascinations; but where there were no ornaments, no furniture, no pictures save a kakemono here and there, no curtains, no color anywhere, it is difficult to say wherein lay the charm.

And yet it was charming. The fineness of the matting, the beauty of workmanship of the woodwork, the ladder frames of the screens, which were so adjusted that they parted at a touch without a sound, the extraordinary cleanliness everywhere, and, above all, the different little courts on which the rooms looked, were delictful. The bathroom particularly pleased me. Made of some light colored wood, it shone like satin and felt like it.

A delicate carving round the base of the wall, representing flights of birds, formed a dado; two large wooden tubs of the same wood stood at the end of the room, encircled by brass bands beautifully polished, and half a dozen tubs of different sizes stood on a low table; the window looked out upon a small court with one large magnolia tree and a very old graystone lantern. Another room, a sanctuary, where the tea ceremony was held, gave upon a wild scene ten feet square, where jagged rocks, prickly bushes, and rushing torrents spanned by stone bridges, made the urbanities and rigid etiquette of these ceremonies appear a pleasant contrast. The smoking room, made by opening and closing a screen, looked upon a lake artificially and cleverly planned, with beautiful trees and shrubs on its banks, and rocks of strange and varied colors. These rocks alone cost a fabulous sum, and had been brought from a great distance.
The lake was fed from the sea, and as the sun was setting we watched the fish jumping high in the air. Walking round the gardens until it was nearly dark, every turn of the path presented an absolutely new aspect, the variety being marvelous. The gardens and houses covered twenty-four acres, and seemed four times that size.

From "The Reminiscences of Lady Randolph Churchill," in the August "Century."

A Little Too Far.

"There is such a thing as overdoing your part," declared a man of the law who now has the knowledge gained by much experience.

"Shortly after I began practice I the west I was called upon to defend a man who had drawn a revolver or another and threatened to kill him.
The accused did not have a character above reproach, but the prosecuting witness was also shady in reputation and I made the most of this fact. I pictured him as a desperado of the most dangerous type, a man that was a constant menace to the community and one who would recognize no other law than that of force. Such men as he, I insisted, made necessary the organization of vigilance committees and injured the fair name of the west among the older communities of the country.

"The jury returned a verdict of gulity and my man was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. As soon as court adjourned the foreman of the jury came to me and said: 'Young fellow you spread it on too thick.' After that these rip snortin' spears you're we couldn't do nothin' else but what we done."

"I don't understand you, sir."
"You don't? Why, we found the damned perfoot guilty 'cause he didn't shoot."—Detroit Free Press.

Ballet Shoes.

Ballet shoes fit like a stocking. They are of leather, with a thin leather sole about an inch wide and with the uppers sewed so that they come under the foot. The ballet dancer wants no rubber heels, instep arch supports nor any other of the foot supporting or reforming devices which are commonly used by ordinary mortals. The toe dancer desires a hard box toe on her ballet shoes, but the ordinary dancer seeks only shoes that will give perfect freedom of movement of the joints and muscles of the feet. It is a rule of good dancers, a shoe man of experience says, to wear shoes that will allow for space between the toes. It is a point of good fit that all persons should heed, he says. If heels are put on to stage shoes for effect, not to promote good dancing. Many stage shoes are made with short fore parts and high heels to make the feet look smaller and the person taller.—Boston Globe.

What Did He Mean?

Mike Maloney's wife was an invalid, and the doctor had been doing all sorts of things for her, changing the medicine so often that poor Mike's income would scarcely reach and make both ends meet, and at last the doctor said that his wife must go to a warmer climate.

Mike listened to that advice for several months, and finally when October came the doctor told Mike one Saturday evening after all of his week's wages had been spent that his wife positively must be sent to a warmer climate without delay.

Mike left the room for a few minutes, and when he returned he was wiping his eyes with his left hand while with his right hand he brought an arm, which he gave to the physician saying:
"I hate to do it, doc. You please do it for me."—Kansas City Independ-

What Affected the Water Supply.

It was market day. A young woman who works in a downtown office building had hurried to the busy mart where a coliseum was once planned and had purchased Sunday supplies.
A big water tank stood in one corner of the office where she is employed.
She had seen a man put ice in it for drinking water. That would be just the place for her provender.

"What the?"

The demure young woman's employer had sought to have his thirst, but he set the cup down quickly. He looked with anger at the leeman. The demure one quaked with fear. Angry eyes met timid eyes. Then came the confession.

"I'm awful sorry, Mr. —," she quavered, "but I thought there was some kind of a thing-a-majig in there that would keep it from."

She burst into tears. He lifted the lid, and there met his gaze a bunch of celery, young onions, radishes, a pound of butter, lard, veal cutlets and some lettuce.

He did not stop to see the rest, as he lighted a big, strong, black cigar.—Indianapolis News.

Hard to Please.

As Miss Lamson arrayed herself for the meeting of the Harvest Gleaners she expressed her mind freely and fully to her Aunt Eunice. "If they try to make the secretary again I shall up and tell them just what I think of them," she said, with great decision.
"She," remarked Aunt Eunice, who had learned not to waste words.
"Yes, I shall," insisted Miss Lam-son. "Here I've worked for them for ten solid years, and they've never even suggested getting anybody else to take the burden from my shoulders. It's disgraceful!"

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.

Come to Hundreds of Gettysburg People.

There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, sideache, backache;
Sometimes rheumatic pains;
Often urinary disorders; All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Here is proof in Gettysburg: Miss Katie Crouse, living at 135 West street Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I suffered from kidney disease for years and was unable to find anything that would give me even temporary relief.
I endured a great deal of misery from pains in my back and loins, was greatly troubled with headaches, and at times was so dizzy that I was hardly able to straighten. My kidneys did not act properly, and gave me much trouble. The complaint was growing worse daily when a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I purchased a box at The People's Drug Store. They proved to be just what I required, went at once to the seat of the trouble and gave me immediate relief. I am now in better health than before in years, and do not hesitate to give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, EXECUTORS' SALE

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE. On SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1908, the undersigned, executors of the will of W. W. Hader, deceased, will sell at public auction, for cash, the premises described below. A large farm situated in Mount Pleasant township, Adams county, Pa., on the road leading from the York pike to Sugarstown, 2 miles southeast of New York, adjoining lands of Carl Egan, and containing 122 acres more or less, and being wooded land. The improvements consist of a large weatherboarded frame house, large barn, wagon shed, corn crib, and other outbuildings, and is well supplied with water. Sale will commence at 10 a. m. Terms of sale: one-third cash, the balance on mortgage of over 25 per cent. of purchase price will be required, the balance of the purchase money to be secured by mortgage. EMMA W. HAFER, CHAS. S. PUNCA, Executors.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, rapid liver with indigestion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such bilious conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. F. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Philadelphia; H. C. Wood, M. D., of University of Pa.; Prof. John M. Hale, M. D., of Baltimore Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., Author of American Dispensatory; Prof. Jno. M. Soudler, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. F. H. Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address of Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authorities and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate the liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" as cathartics are much contemplated. They are pure and unadorned.

STRANGE ENGLISH WRITTEN BY JAPS

The Japanese certainly do try to learn the English language. They find the English language a pretty hard nut to crack, but that doesn't deter them. They keep right at it and crack it.

An American gentleman, agent at Yokohama for a trans-Pacific steamship company, now on leave in New York, brings a quaint package of material illustrating the efforts of the English schooled Japanese to gain a fair-Nelson on the language of Shakespeare.

A few months ago a young Japanese applied to the steamship agent for a job as clerk in the Yokohama steamship office. There being no vacancies, says the New York Sun, the agent civilly got rid of the applicant, and on the following day he received this explanatory letter from him:

Dear Sir: Many thanks for your sparing precious time during business hour on my visit yesterday.

I failed on that occasion, owing rather to my sly nature to speak out my principal motive for a clerk life, and should be much obliged if you will take it into consideration. The cause for my being clerk is that I am a lover of Charles Lamb, with whom I have many points in common. I have an affectionate sister for whose sake I will sacrifice my life and lead a single life, like the English humorist. Was he not a clerk in the Indian company till his retirement through the approaching age? I said my sister, but to tell the truth, she was my cousin, and the past three years was a tragic comedy to us, and from pure love, and by mutual consent, we will lead a brother and sister life.

My second motive is that I may become a gentleman through your favor, with whom I had no means to know each other but such insolent way on my part.

How glad my parents and dear sister be if they hear some day that I get a position in your office.

I intend to enter some school within two or three days and train myself in bookkeeping and in the practice of typewriter.

Hoping you would not kindly forget me through an artless frontiers (front?). Yours faithfully, KATSUTARO.

Here is a letter from a Japanese shipping firm to the steamship company respecting—well, respecting whatever it means:

Dear Sir: According to your favor of November 28, 12-10th, with reference to a discrepancy of 275 sacks of flour, we send you the invoice No. 21, which you have not. We beg you to return the invoice when you will not be short of it—and to inform us what it will be intended by you in reference to this discrepancy's explanation.

One of the Japanese employees of the steamship office in Yokohama was summoned up-country by the illness of a brother. Here is the letter which he wrote to the agent upon his arrival home:

"My Honorable Mr. J.—I will never forget your kindness. When I was hastening to return to my home I felt that train was exceedingly slow. Certainly train was quick, but my thought rather sooner than its running. All things which caught my eye on the way were very beautiful and attractive in the past time, but now they seemed disagreeable, gloomy, clumsy and sorrowful.

Then in the future what appearance they will have to show me! All time on the way home I could not avoid to think fragments of the following phrases: What is life? What is human being? What is ambition? Life is earnest or life is an empty dream. From dust to dust. What is the immortality of the soul?

Such uncontrolled thoughts came to occupy their places in my mind. Phantom after phantom. Imagination after imagination, all time. I found such an irregular conception of thinking and could not get a categorical thought. But for a moment I changed from business man to philosopher.

When arrived at my home I saw three doctors and many relations gathering around my brother's bed. At a sight of such a deplorable scene I thought that my brother has at last gone, and I hastened to see him, but he was lying in a very perilous point, whether he will die or live, sink or swim in so slight a change of condition his fate is to be destined. Doctor said his destination can be known in the course of a few days, then I want to know probable tendency of condition of his sickness.

Will you please allow me to stay home more a week? I have wished to write you as soon as I came here but could not. Please excuse my unpolite word and crowded sentence. I remain yours, obedient fellow. K. M.

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE.

WITNESSED & PARTICIPATED IN BY A GETTYSBURGIAN.

Something of the Character of Services and Addresses Making up the Students' Conference.

Last week I told of inauguration of Northfield. It is my wish to add something about the Students' Conference. The twenty-fourth session of the Students' Conference at Northfield was held June 26 to July 5. The register shows 878 delegates and 165 speakers and visitors in attendance. (There were upwards of seven-five students known to be present who did not register. Many summer visitors to Northfield were in attendance at the meetings.) The registered delegates represented 139 institutions of learning. Yale had the largest delegation.

A few figures from the various reports will be of interest. The past year has been marked with great activity in college Y. M. C. A. men in group Bible study. The reports show more than 50,000 enrolled in the volunteer classes, an increase of 15,000 over the previous year. Twelve hundred confessed Christ during the year. Twenty-three thousand were enrolled in the mission study classes, an increase of 5,000 over the previous year. Perkinen Seminary seemed to report the largest percentage of students enrolled in Bible study; out of 80 students 65 were in Bible study groups. Increase was shown all along the line. Princeton had 192 in the Bible study classes three years ago, last year 632; Ann Arbor had 250 out of 800 undergraduates; West Point had over 50 per cent. enrolled last year; Cornell reported 192 two years ago, 721 during the past year; two years ago there were none among the fraternities, the past year seven classes.

The most discouraging reports came from the technological institutions. Plans for next year indicate that there will be systematic effort for larger increase, both active and intensive. Among the plans for next year we note especially that a number of institutions are planning to have a faculty group for Bible study. Along the line of Bible study, we also note the first Bible study convention will be held in Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 22-25. The spirit of the conference, however, will appear more clearly from the character of the sermons and addresses. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., Secretary of Yale Y. M. C. A., preached the sermon on Sunday morning, June 28, from the text, I Cor. 1:11, "Other foundation can no man lay," etc. The general thought of his sermon was as follows: "I firmly believe these words are true. The man who wrote these words tried two foundations. He had first based his life on laws—the multiplied Jewish laws, and on this basis he had failed. So is the life of every young man who says he will act his life on laws. Law, any way, without the spirit behind it fails. Then Paul tried Jesus Christ—no theory about him, no discussions about him, not discussions of his life, but foundation on the Godman himself. The first trial has been a failure; the second foundation built the most useful man the world has seen. President Hadley said last Sunday: (in his baccalaureate sermon) that of all philosophies the Christian would alone last. So I ask you today to aake Jesus Christ as your foundation, young men. The church and the Y. M. C. A. are not interchangeable institutes, but allies in a common cause. I plead with you to definitely make Jesus Christ your foundation, and that you will help him and his work by joining his church."

Each day the program began with group Bible study classes, of which there were more than fifty. Rev. Mr. Stone conducted a class on personal evangelism. The second hour was devoted to group mission studies. This was followed by a half hour on his work. This was followed under the direction of the Ministry, the Y. M. C. A. Association, Missionary Vocations, etc. The program was a carefully planned and well executed. The first hour was devoted to group Bible study classes, of which there were more than fifty. Rev. of persons that. In the evening at seven there was a general meeting on Broad Top, an address at eight in the auditorium.

Prof. Bacon of Yale remarked that a certain number of their faculty had spoken disparagingly of the Northfield Conference calling it "Tennis religion." One can see it is not conducted on times which would allow the speaker to turn a world and much to ridicule. But whoever did accomplish anything without being criticised by those who did less? The men who do things are the kicking jacks of the denouncers. Rev. John H. Mott, president of the International Y. M. C. A. Movement, represents a factor in the religious development of our modern world which is accomplishing great things in making religion practical, in getting hold of young men, and in unifying the forces of protestantism. The Y. M. C. A. does not hold many councils for defining doctrines and formulating creeds. But it is ever busy devising means whereby sinner may be led to Jesus Christ.

The Northfield Conference gave great inspiration to that large body of students which will be multiplied many times as they return to their respective institutions. The men there received larger views of the world's needs and had laid upon them the gravity of their responsibility as college men for the betterment of this world so despoiled by sin.

Respectfully,

His Concession.

Miss Sallie Miller, the acknowledged belle of the town, had fewer beaux than were her due. This was owing to her father's peculiar aversion to all young men who called on his daughter. He had a disconcerting way of taking possession of the porch and snubbing her callers while they were waiting for her to come down.

One evening Newton Brown, a bashful young swain, came a trifle too early for Miss Sallie. Mr. Miller and Newton's father were close friends, but the boy had grown so rapidly that the old gentleman did not recognize little Newton Brown in this tall, gawky youth. "It looks as if it might rain," the young fellow ventured timidly.

"Tain't a-goin' to rain," was the gruff response.

For about a quarter of an hour they sat in silence. Finally the old man's curiosity got the better of him.

"Who are you, anyway?" he growled.

"Newton Brown, sir."

"What! Not old Jake Brown's son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, well," said Mr. Miller more kindly; "it may rain; it may rain."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Lesson in Honesty.

There is a restaurant in Broad street in which nearly a thousand persons eat during the noon hour. Each person eats what he pleases and when he goes to the cashier's desk announces the amount of his indebtedness. The proprietors figure that to trust to the honesty of their patrons is a saving of precious Wall street minutes and, besides, is good business. Once in awhile keen eyed employees capture a cheat, one of these a youth, was "caught with the goods only" a few days ago and taken to the office of the proprietors, where the chief of being arrested was going to the kitchen and washing dishes. The man was nearly collapsed with shame and fright. He begged for mercy and begged to be released. For the proprietors were so kind as to pardon him. For the proprietors were so kind as to pardon him.

TEXAS

The Panhandle of Texas offers the very best inducements of the entire United States for the man who wishes to locate on a good farm, as well as for the investor.

This land is unusually fertile, it lies nice and level, no stumps or underbrush to be up, but ready to plow at once. On this land you can raise larger crops of every kind with less labor than on any farm land in Pennsylvania or West Virginia.

There is an abundance of rainfall during the crop growing season, and they have the healthiest and most pleasant climate during the entire year of any place in the United States. Plenty of absolutely fresh water.

We are selling this land for $10 to $30 per acre, according to distance from railroad and towns. Good terms. You can buy as many acres as you want and make as much or more than the cost of your land in the first year.

Our next excursion leaves Pittsburg in the evening of August 17 and 31.

Send for our free illustrated booklet. You should investigate this proposition at once by going with us on our next excursion. Now is your chance before the land is all sold, as thousands of Northern people have located there and the prices of land are sure to rise before the next future.

Refund your expense of making the trip if we have misrepresented the land.

SECTION ONE.
A JOINT RESOLUTION.
Proposing amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, and to give the General Assembly power to establish a separate court in Philadelphia county, with criminal and miscellaneous jurisdiction.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, that the following amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same are hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section six of article five be amended by striking out the said section and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas in each of said counties, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of each of said courts shall be provided by law. The number of judges in each of said courts may be, by law, increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first Monday of January succeeding its adoption.

Section 2. That article five, section eight, be amended by making an addition thereto so that the same shall read as follows:

Section 8. The said courts in the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny respectively shall, from time to time, in turn, detail one or more of their judges to hold the courts of oyer and terminer and the courts of quarter sessions of the peace of said counties, in such manner as may be directed by law: Provided, That in the county of Philadelphia the General Assembly shall have power to establish a separate court, consisting of not more than four judges, which shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction in criminal cases and in such other matters as may be provided by law.

SECTION TWO.
A JOINT RESOLUTION.
Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth, allowing counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts, or other municipal or incorporated districts, to increase their indebtedness.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, that section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, reading as follows:

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding its indebtedness to the same assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, be amended, in accordance with the provisions of the said article of the said Constitution, so that said section, when amended, shall read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed ten per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding its indebtedness to the same assessed valuation of property without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election, in such manner as shall be provided by law.

the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper care to fill any vacancy in the office of a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with one door open, and in electing or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal, so as to read as follows:

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers as may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs, or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of the Constitution, unless a vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two.—To Article Four, Section Two.
Section 2. Amend section two of article four, which reads as follows:—"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms." so as to read:—"The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years; they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections; but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms."

Amendment Three.—To Article Five, Section Eleven.
Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of four years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district." so as to read:—"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district."

Amendment Four.—To Article Five, Section Twelve.
Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—"Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil cases, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be two years, and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large, and in the election of the said magistrates, no elector shall vote for more than one candidate; the number of such courts shall be determined by the Governor, and he shall be compensated only by his salary, to be paid by the said county, and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as hereinafter provided, as is now exercised by the judges of the said courts, and shall be subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction, as may be provided by law. The office of a magistrate shall be held for a term of two years, and he shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large, and in the election of the said magistrates, no elector shall vote for more than one candidate; the number of such courts shall be determined by the Governor, and he shall be compensated only by his salary, to be paid by the said county, and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as hereinafter provided, as is now exercised by the judges of the said courts, and shall be subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction, as may be provided by law. —W. L. Glatfelter entertained the sales managers of the York Manufacturing Company last week: the object being to become better acquainted with each other and with the machines they are selling. Part of the entertainment was a trip to Gettysburg last Wednesday.

—Judge Gillan, of Chambersburg, has refused new trial and entered judgment upon the verdict for Miss Kauffman against Thos. M. Nelson for $4,666.95 damages for injuries received by being struck by Mr. Nelson's auto.

—J. M. Trone, ticket agent of the W. M. R. R. at Hanover, after a continuous service of thirty years, resigned last week to engage in other business. He was succeeded by William Rife, chief clerk in the freight office of Hanover for past six years.

—Rev. Dr. M. Coover began last week the delivery of a series of eight lectures on Bible Study, before the Lutheran Summer Assembly at Irving College, Mechanicsburg.
